

APWWS seeks financial support for SP

October 23, 2016

ITANAGAR, Oct 22: Arunachal Pradesh Women's Welfare Society (APWWS) has called on the state government to extend financial support to the Namsai Superintendent of Police, CK Mein who is reportedly battling for life in the Intensive Coronary Care Unit of Apollo Hospital Chennai, Tamil Nadu after being operated by cardiothoracic surgeons on Wednesday.

S P Namsai sustained injury when an unruly mob attacked the police team while they were conducting a raid on drug peddlers at Silatoo Village in Mahadevpur, Namsai on Sept 10, 2016. Two other police personnel were also injured in the attack by the villagers.

Expressing its solidarity with the police department, APWWS called on the govt to extend all possible financial help for better treatment of the police officer. Women's group have been active in the Namsai district in their fight against drug trafficking.
